However, it is the responsibility of the Company’s management to carry out all the transactions in line with Shariah requirements as defined by the SAB.

We also report to you whether in our opinion, the management of the Company fulfilled their responsibility towards implementing the SAB directives. Our responsibilities do not extend to any other assurance or information.

Basis of the Shariah Compliance Verification Opinion

The Verification was designed to examine, assess, and evaluate the following:

 - Documentation of the Shariah governance framework including all the related processes and procedures.

We planned and conducted our Verification by utilising a bespoke sampling methodology so as to obtain all the relevant information and explanations which we considered necessary to provide us with sufficient evidence to have reasonable assurance that the activities/documents are free from material breach of Shariah rules, whether caused on purpose, by negligence or due to lack of Islamic finance and Shariah knowledge.
